His badge and apron in a leather case are now at the police station in charge of Chief Patterson. ## CURRENT COMMENT.

We had hoped that the incident of the jury's verdict on the mine accident would have been allowed to close, but as some of our esteemed contemporaries have taken advantage of one Alderman's insulting reference to the jury and the statements of the Mayor and other Aldermen we are forced against our will in the interests of the public, the Fire Department and the city to submit a few facts. Alderman Rankin's statement that the verdict of the jury was founded on street gossip was merely a statement of a vulgar man. The jury men had taken a solemn oath and were bound under it to find a verdict on the basis of their knowledge and belief on the evidence adduced and while they are liable to err in judgment like all other human beings, the charge that they were governed by the gossip of the street is too serious a one to be allowed to pass unchallenged.

The Mayor yesterday stated that there had been no requisition for a hose wagon submitted to the council. Alderman Rankin feigned ignorance of the matter and conveyed the impression that the council had always complied with the firemen's requests. Following is an extract from a rough draft of a letter sent the council in February:

"We desire to inform you that we consider that a tank should be placed at the corner of Whyte Ave. and Anthony Street, and at the south-west corner of block 158 for the protection of west end ratepayers, and that a tank electric pump and hose reel should be located at the bridge."

"We submit a cut and description of a hose wagon which we consider without any off requirements. We have thoroughly gone into the matter of reconstructing the fire hall, etc."

The council has not acceded to these requests in anything except the repairs to the city hall and these were made on the requisition in this letter. How, we submit in the face of this can any man and a faithful man sit in a council chamber and say he knew nothing about it?

The statement that the authority to procure the hose reel wagon was vested in the chairman and the chief seems either to be substantiated by minutes that cannot be found or has no foundation in fact.

Alderman Rankin is reported as saying that the department had enough hose to reach the distance to the coal mine twice over. The department has 2500 feet of available hose and 2000 feet were laid on Saturday night. To cover the distance twice 4100 feet would be required, so that the Alderman is only off in his grand stand statement 1400 feet, a rather wide margin, we submit, for a man to make who has no ready access to the fire hall and who has with his aspersions on the honor of a jury composed of prominent, reputable and respected citizens. The aspersions in of a piece with another one made by the same gentleman, who repudiated a recommendation to the council and pleaded ignorance of its purpose until shown it over his own signature.

The following from the Standard in reference to Regina applies with equal, if not greater force, to Strathcona.

A very interesting return has been issued by the federal census department dealing with the manufacture of the Dominion for the quinquennial period 1901-1906. During that period the manufacturing of Canada have increased by fifty per cent from $481,053,375 in the former year to $715,044,505 last year, certainly a very gratifying record.

For westerners the most interesting feature is that Winnipeg has jumped into a prominent position in that period as a manufacturing centre. In 1901 her manufactures were no more than $8,076,216, while in 1906 they had increased to $16,989,240, or considerably more than double. Montreal and Toronto, of course, lead in totals, but Hamilton, regarded as a great manufacturing centre, produced no more than $24,628,270 last year, and Winnipeg therefore already occupies a very considerable place among the great industrial cities of the Dominion.

The significance lies in the fact that Winnipeg has attained this position in the face of all those natural difficulties which confront a prairie centre, against which the single advantage is set of closeness to the great western market for the finished product. So soon as the two big water power enterprises now in progress are completed resulting in cheap power Winnipeg will be in a position to contest on an equal basis with longer established eastern cities, but what success has been attained to date has been in face of every natural obstacle and with but the one natural advantage of proximity to the consumer.

There is surely a lesson here for the people of this city. What has been done in Winnipeg can be done as readily here. As a distributing centre, with a rich country on four sides of it, Regina holds an immeasurably better position than Winnipeg. The city is also in a position to offer some inducement to small manufacturers such as first made Winnipeg an industrial centre. In the future, no doubt, a problem will present itself of developing a great natural water power within 40 or 50 miles of the city, but in the meantime it is in the discretion of the city authorities to set such a price on power supplied from the civic plant as will encourage rather than deter the class of industry to which we have referred. We believe that in thus making a radical reduction in the cost of power to the consumer, the authorities would receive the energetic support of all citizens accustomed to look from the viewpoint of future development.

Winnipeg has been particularly fortunate in the amount of cheap residential lots available for artisans and working men generally, but here again a Regina should be in quite as good a position to encourage the right kind of industrial population. The whole subject is a legitimate matter for discussion, and we fail to see any reason why in time Regina should not be made at least as good as the roll of Canadian cities. Whether at the present time we are going about it in the right way is a different matter.

THE FIRST STEP

The Ministers of Education in Canada are reported to be in favor of the publication of a national series of text books for all the public schools. Alberta and Saskatchewan have already taken the initiative. Educators of experience recognize that such cooperation has a real economic value and that it gives promise of ripening into a fundamental power to the State. When a people place their primary schools on a common basis they lay the foundation of a Provincial plan of schooling that rises up through the higher schools and culminates in commonwealth colleges. Through such a system the State gains its greatest strength through the tax of the people rather than through the endorsement of its predatory rich. Proof thus from the influence of special privileges, however, subtly taught, the Province will come to educate their own for the common good. In this constructive educational work the uniformity of the primary instruction is the first task. May it go on until every province in the Dominion has been crowned by a great Provincial University-Collier's.
